

Lucy Faithfull Foundation

One-day workshops and courses for all those working in child and public protection delivered by senior practitioners specialising in child sexual abuse prevention

Understanding Sexual Exploitation of Children and Young People

This one-day training course is aimed at practitioners and managers who are motivated to assist children and young people who are at risk of being sexually exploited. It will also assist professionals to engage with young people known to be victims of sexual exploitation.

Course aims

Drawing on the most recent research and our experience within the family court, child protection and criminal justice systems, this course will offer our expert analysis of the victim, survivor and the perpetrator to promote a holistic understanding of the process of sexual exploitation.

The course will meet the following objectives:

- Provide a definition of sexual exploitation of children and young people
- Explore the process of child sexual exploitation and identify opportunities for intervention
- Promote awareness of the complexity of consent
- Increase awareness of how people who sexually exploit others operate
- Identify strategies for promoting positive outcomes for young people
- Identify methods to facilitate the prosecution of offenders
- Promote strategies for preventing sexual exploitation of children and young people

Throughout the day delegates will have the opportunity to engage in discussion about the meaning of sexual exploitation, development risk management strategies for responding to risk and explore what young people tell us about helpful responses from professionals. We will also promote prevention strategies.

We provide a comprehensive range of services, including training and specialist case advice for professionals, and direct work with sex offenders and their families.
